RESILIENCE PROTECTIVE FACTORS CHECKLIST (RPFC-CLIN)
Clinical Version- For Resilient Youth, Parents/Caregivers, & Others

Some people react to hard times (abuse; loss; or other stressors) by becoming chronically withdrawn, insecure, depressed, and even negative, non-caring, and sometimes abusive to self and/or others. These reactions can lead to lots of negative outcomes in life. However, others cope with life struggles by positively adapting and growing up to have well-adjusted lives. These people are called ‘resilient’. Researchers have discovered that we all have the ability to be resilient if we have enough ‘protective factors’.

Protective factors help buffer the hard times we experience in life and increase the likelihood of positive outcomes and healthy development. The Resilience Protective Factor Checklist (RPFC) describes protective factors (individual, family, & community factors) commonly linked to resilience in youth and adults (based on Masten & Coatsworth, 1998; Masten, Cutuli, Herbers, & Reed, 2009; Masten & Reed, 2002, as well as other studies cited below). Even having a couple of these factors can have a positive impact on your ability to cope and live a happy, well-adjusted life. The purpose of the RPFC-Clin is to help facilitate open communication (between youth, parents/caregivers & their human service providers) about key protective factors in your life. It is helpful tool for anybody who wants to learn more about their Protective Factors and Resilience.

Name______________________ Date____________________

Instructions: With the help of your family (and counselor or other human service providers), please read each statement (protective factor) and decide which ones you already have in your life or could have if you worked on it. Note: The name for each Protective Factor (PF) is listed under each statement.

• Mark an X next to each ‘protective factor’ that you already have within yourself, your family, and/or community.
• Mark a P (Possible) next to each ‘protective factor’ you could have if you and your family worked on it.

1) INDIVIDUAL Protective Factors
Factors within yourself that can make you more resilient when faced with hard times.

_____ 1. You are able to think about your problems and figure out what you need to do to make it better
   PF= Problem-solving skills; Psychological-mindedness (Nyklicek, Majoor & Schalken, 2010; Raxas & Glenwick, 2014)

_____ 2. You are good at calming yourself down and thinking before you act
   PF= Self-regulation skills for self-control of attention, arousal, and impulses

_____ 3. You feel good about yourself for the positive things you do
   PF= Positive self-perception; self-esteem

_____ 4. You have talents that you and society value
   PF= Talents (i.e., computer skills, writing, music, athletics, cooking)

_____ 5. You believe you can influence what happens in your life with your decisions and actions
   PF= Self-efficacy; Hope; Internal Locus of control While some people mistakenly believe they have no control over their lives (learned helplessness), resilient people believe they do

_____ 6. You have religious beliefs/spirituality that gives you support and helps you make decisions
   PF= Faith; Sense of meaning in life

_____ 7. You keep a positive attitude about life, even when faced with hard times
   PF= Positive outlook on life; Adaptive humor- tolerant, accepting, self-supporting humor that helps you manage stress and connect with others (Kuper, et al., 2004)

_____ 8. You have a likable personality that people want to be around
   PF= Adaptable personality; General Appeal or Attractiveness to Others

_____ 9. You believe you are a strong person because of the hard times you have faced in life
   PF= Post-Traumatic Growth; Coped with/overcome significant adversity in life, which has made you more skilled and confident to handle hard times in the future (Collier, 2016; Meyerson, et al., 2011; Schaefer, et al., 2018; Seery, et al., 2013)

_____ 10. You are personally motivated to make positive changes in your life
    PF= Internal motivation; Being committed to putting forth effort to improve your life (Karver, et al., 2006; Miller & Rollnick, 2002; Walters, et al., 2007)

_____ 11. You regularly use physical exercise as a method of coping with life stress
2) FAMILY Protective Factors
Factors within your family that can make you more resilient when faced with hard times.

12. You have a positive family member who gives you support in good and bad times
   PF= Close relationship with a competent, prosocial, supportive parent or other family member—grandparent, aunt, uncle, older siblings, etc.

13. You live in a home that is safe and everyone gets along well
   PF= Organized, predictable home environment; Positive family climate with low conflict

14. You have a parent/caregiver who helps you out with schoolwork and goes to your activities
   PF= Parent/Caregiver involved in child’s education

15. You have a parent/caregiver who thinks education is important
   PF= Parent/Caregiver who values education; Parent with postsecondary education

16. You have a parent/caregiver who provides structure/rules and monitors what you do
   PF= Democratic (authoritative) parenting style (Rothrauff et al., 2009; Steinberg, 2001; Takeuchi & Takeuchi, 2008; Yeung, et al., 2016)

17. You have a parent/caregiver who regularly talks with you and explains the reasons for rules and limits
   PF= Democratic (authoritative) parenting style

18. You have a parent/caregiver who believes in you and expects you to do well in life
   PF= Democratic (authoritative) parenting style

19. You live in a home that has enough money to pay for everything you need
   PF= Home with socioeconomic advantages—Families that have enough money to pay for food, clothing, rent/mortgage, schooling, childcare, health care, leisure activities, etc.

20. You have a parent/caregiver who has some of the ‘individual protective factors’ listed on page 1
   PF= Parent/Caregiver who possesses individual protective factor qualities

3) COMMUNITY Protective Factors
Factors within your community (neighborhood, peer group, school) that can make you more resilient when faced with hard times.

21. You have a positive adult from outside your family who gives you support
   PF= Close relationship with competent, prosocial, supportive adults—teacher, coach, minister, family friend, counselor, etc.

22. You have a positive friend who supports you and stays out of trouble
   PF= Connections to prosocial, rule-abiding peers

23. You have a positive partner (romantic partner/boyfriend/girlfriend/spouse) who supports you and stays out of trouble
   PF= Relationship with prosocial, well-adjusted partner

24. You have positive activities you like to do
   PF= Ties to prosocial organizations—sports, band, clubs, after-school programs, jobs, etc.

25. You go to a school that feels safe and has teachers who care about you
   PF= Attend an effective, prosocial school—A school that is well-organized and predictable; consistently enforces rules; monitors student academic progress; and has well-trained teachers who provide high quality instruction, are positive role models, and sources of support for students

26. You have neighbors who care and look out for you when there are problems
   PF= Neighborhood with high ‘collective efficacy’

27. You live in a neighborhood where you feel safe
   PF= High levels of public safety